Impaled through his center,
he revolves on the thread of eternity and spins the strands of the future from those of the past, continuing forever his meaningless task which is all the more meaningful because it yields him.

THE DESTINY OF MAN

FOREWORD

Our subject is man—man considered neither as builder nor thinker, nor under any other single aspect. In a time when sincerity in speaking is measured by the number of modifiers added to our words we run the risk of seeming banal when we allow man to rest on his natural dignity. But we feel the risk justified, for the dignity of man is one born of a creature whom Shakespeare fitly called "infinite in faculty." It is a dignity born of divine likeness, divine redemption and divine inheritance. Man is the chief creature of the universe and its only inhabitant responsible for his own destiny.

The picture we paint here portrays man as we know him in a limited academic surrounding, and it is victim to the distortions characteristic of any partial view of a great subject. We will show students engaged in the works of man, limiting ourselves to five headings. First we will take note of the intellectual activity of man—his attempts to solve the twin mysteries of his universe and himself. Then we will observe him among his fellows, socially and competitively. We will see him at work, struggling with the inert, attempting to quicken it, to make it do his bidding. Then we will present the men who have been performing the works of man, and finally show a relationship among these varied facets of man's total activity.

INTELLECTUAL MAN

THE AWFUL SHOCK which accompanies the mind's discovery that the universe is incomprehensible breaks some men; others it sanctifies. But left to the rest of mankind is the task of explaining human experience in rational terms. Some would call the process a search for truth, others an exposition of revelation. No matter, for the work of man is the same in both: to examine experience and attempt explanation; then to test the explanation, discarding the unsound and building on the sound. Thus, a Heraclitus will propose that fire underlies all creation; a Plato, ideal forms, and an Aquinas, essences. But no explanation has yet been entirely successful. Each, however, has been valuable, if only for serving as a point of departure whereby men may appreciate more fully the essence of life. But man's experience has been not only of the natural world, but of himself also; and he is of even greater incomprehensibility. Man knows only that he is at once a part of, yet somehow different from the rest of creation. He knows also that he will never understand himself without understanding his universe.

SUPERINTENDENT

Many years ago Thomas Jefferson wrote: "I know no safe depository of the ultimate powers of society but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome direction, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion through education."

Accomplishment and performance take place within a framework of expectation. Accomplishment and performance should come from all students—not just the academically talented. Our complex democratic society today is totally dependent upon the capacity of all of its people to read and write, to make intelligent judgments, and to act on the basis of extensive information. The intellectual man, then, is that one who, regardless of native talent, develops his mental processes and abilities to their utmost.

ALEX V. MacDONALD

Man has been endowed with a high intellectual potential which varies from person to person. Some people would have us believe that only persons of high intelligence have the right to be formally educated in our public schools and universities. Fortunately, our forefathers and the majority of our present citizenry believed that all should be given the right of training and exercising their intellect to the utmost. Of course, this right of free public education also carries with it certain personal responsibilities for those being educated. Not only did our forefathers grant the right of free public education, but deemed it a necessity in order to preserve our democratic form of government.

Though some people are blessed with greater power of reason, judgment, and comprehension than others, it is necessary for our own happiness and the good of our society that we contribute to the best of our native abilities. Most great accomplishments have been attained by people of various abilities working together toward a common objective. In this way our great country was founded and developed, and in this way our national and world problems will be solved.

DEAN OF GIRLS

An educated woman has the responsibilities of women throughout history. Education is designed to prepare a woman to make a home, to work at a job, and to accept community responsibility. But how can education prepare her for the unknown? Can anyone know what women will need to be, to do, to know, in twenty years or more?

To educate a woman to accept her present responsibilities is what we must continue to do. The problem demanding solution is to find ways to educate a woman to keep herself intellectually aware and ready to assume new roles demanded by her partnership with Intellectual Man.

Robert Warner

DEAN OF BOYS

Each day of our lives we experience the fantastic results and pleasant benefits derived from the accomplishments of intellectual man. The numerous conveniences and pleasures that we have make our lives more enjoyable than those of our ancestors. Furthermore, because of the accomplishments of intellectual man we have been blessed with increased opportunity to express our abilities and to provide for a comfortable living for our families.

If we are to take advantage of the vast opportunities afforded us, we must value the importance of education and make every effort to develop our potential so that the highest degree of success can be realized.

Robert Machado

CURRICULUM AND GUIDANCE

The intellectual man of today starts his mental development from birth and never becomes completely intellectually satisfied but rather searches continuously to broaden and develop his intellect throughout his entire life. This intellectual curiosity must be broad and cover the academic areas, the graphic arts, creative writing, dramatics, mechanical skills and the social and economic areas which are important to man in his present society.

A man who is limited in the scope of his interest and knowledge can be brilliant and successful in his chosen field, but never develop into an intellectual man. The intellectual man is rare but is easily identified by his constant seeking to learn, during and after his formal education is finished.

Sanford Grover

AUXILIARY SERVICES

Man is now in position to achieve through science anything he genuinely wants and is willing to pay for. We have been witnessing the astronauts attaining their climbs into outer space, achieving the unbelievable. Automation is becoming commonplace. Polio is no longer a threat, thanks to men like Salk and Sabin. The endless parade of electronic devices never ceases to amaze us. Going to the moon is no longer a question of physics, but of economics. Technology has reached a point where, as soon as a problem is stated clearly, we are within a generation of solving it.

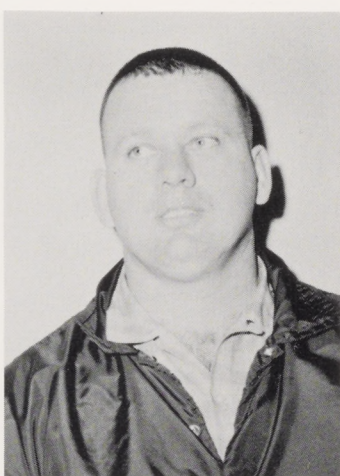

Behind all that is achieved in the world, there is, of course, one ingredient that is as essential as baking powder is to biscuits. It is man's intellect. Nurtured through the educational process, man's intellect, coupled with his desires, shapes the progress of his destiny. With each new generation improving upon the last it could be said that man's destiny is in good hands.

SOCIAL MAN

Man is, at one and same time, a solitary being and a social being. As a solitary being, he attempts to protect his own existence and that of those who are closest to him, to satisfy his personal desires, and to develop his innate abilities. As a social being, he seeks to gain the recognition and affection of his fellow human beings, to share in their pleasures, to comfort them in their sorrows, and to improve their conditions of life. Only the existence of these varied, frequently conflicting strivings accounts for the special character of a man, and their specific combination determines the extent to which an individual can contribute to the well-being of society.

Men recognize their humanity by confessing the value of other men. By this we mean that the approach to other individuals is an escape from the trap of the self. Men effect this escape by knowing and serving with other men, by relying on them to do in common what the individual alone cannot do, by twisting in their intellectual and moral judgments, by supporting their projects and, in turn, being supported by them. It is evident that the dependence of the individual upon society is a fact of nature which cannot be abolished.

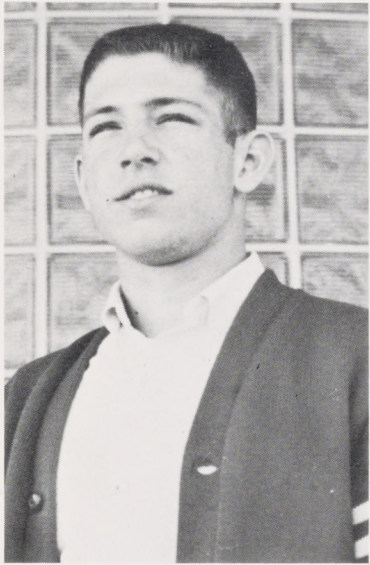

While the great part of high school education is gained through putting students in intimate contact with the humanity of the past, the rest is gained through putting them in contact with their contemporaries. And whether it be on a dance floor or in a student council meeting room, the process is the same. For only in meeting with and learning from others can students learn to do what they know to be their part in effecting the destiny of man.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council is the administrative arm of Madera High's student government. Student government has gained much ground this year, due largely to the overall efforts of the members. Members of Student Council are elected twice a year by the student body. This year there were plenty of candidates for each office and the turnout of voters during the spring elections was the best ever recorded at Madera High. President Sellai and President Wilburn guided their respective councils well, and with the help of a very cooperative administration and advisor Miss Margaret Dominici, the council achieved a great deal this year.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

The Freshman Assembly was the high point of the first semester for the Freshman Class. It was one of the best Freshman Assemblies in several years. They also had a concession at the football games. The spring was spent in planning for the Madera High Bermuda Day and other activities.

Besides putting on the biggest Freshman-Sophomore Reception ever, the Sophomore Class was busy sponsoring an after-game dance and other money-making projects. In the spring they participated in Bermuda Day and other activities.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The Junior Class handled its share of the activities this year. The first semester they were busy with football game concessions. They sponsored after-game dances for both football and basketball games. The second semester was occupied by the Junior-Senior Prom and projects to finance it.

The Senior Class was busied the first semester with the ordering of announcements and caps and gowns. They were also busy at the football games making money, and they decorated a portion of the campus at Yuletide. The second semester's activities were highlighted with the Senior Play and graduation activities. It was the last of four busy years at Madera High for the class of "63."

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

STUDENT LEGISLATURE

Student Legislature, the chief student law-making body, is a sounding board for ideas that originate in the general student body. It is headed by an executive board of six members who are: President, Carrie Wren; Recording Secretary, Nancy Uhalde; Sergeant at Arms, Gary Meneghin; Parliamentarian, Richard McCollister, and Advisor, Miss Margaret Dominici. In Student Legislature, there is a ratio of approximately one representative to every thirty-five students. Student Legislature provides for a closer relationship among the faculty, the administration, and the student body.

FOREIGN STUDENT

Isobel Dick, from the Republic of South Africa, was Madera High's first foreign student. She was sponsored by the community through the American Field Service Program, which brings students from fifty-seven different countries. A graduate of Northlands Girls' High School in Durban, South Africa, Isobel arrived in August to make her home with the Robert A. Howe family. She enrolled in Madera Union High School as a member of the class of '63." By hard work and at a pace that would exhaust most of us, she proved herself both academically and socially. Isobel is indeed a credit to her homeland and has won the admiration of all at Madera High.

Miss Isobel Dick

BOYS' STATE AND GIRLS' STATE

Steven Mortimer, Carrie Wren, and Albert Wilburn.

Boys' State is a movement sponsored by the American Legion. Representatives attending this convention are taught practical civics. They become a member of a party and may run for office. Al Wilburn and Steven Mortimer represented us well at Boys' State.

Girls' State is a similar organization to Boys' State. Members are given an insight into government by practical experience. Carrie Wren was chosen to represent Madera High at Girls' State.

Editor-in-Chief, Gerald Sherian

The Madera Union High School yearbook publication, the Blue and White, is appropriately named for the school colors. The first Madera High yearbook, the Purple and White, was published in 1914. The name was changed to Blue and White in 1949. This year is the forty-ninth anniversary of the yearbook. The Blue and White is edited by a chosen staff of seniors who work on an extra-curricular basis, receiving no class credits for their time and efforts. The yearbook is financed through the sales of yearbooks and advertisements. This year's Blue and White features many innovations. Some of these new features are linotype, a sans-serif type face, a buck-rum cover, embossed paper, duo-tone end sheets, and much more color. Also it is the first MUHS yearbook to exceed two hundred pages.

The editor, Gloria Cervantez, always has something worth reading on the editorial page. The Maderan is part of the school journalism program and is compiled completely by student reporters. The 1963 senior play presentation was entitled, "Father's Been to Mars." Mrs. C. Youngclause was the faculty advisor of the play, and was largely responsible for its tremendous success. Assisting in the direction and production was senior Jim Dockery.

The play, a three-act comedy, evolves around a slightly radical family, the Gibsons. The father of the family, portrayed by George Kovacevich, plays a famous TV star known as Captain Galaxy. The difficulty Mr. Gibson experienced in his "dual-personality" life, and the conflict it had with his prim and proper daughter Gloria, made for a hilarious senior performance.

Under the direction of Mrs. Youngclaus of the "Maderan" and George Kovacevich, Block M Homecoming Chairman, "Tree the Tribe Week" became a reality. The big game of the week saw the Madera Coyotes facing the Fresno High Warriors. "Tree the Tribe Week" featured a noon rally, a serpentine rally, a noon dance, a bike day, a downtown rally and an aftergame dance.

HOMECOMING WEEK

Friday after school, the queen candidates, Pep Girls, Cheerleaders, football teams, and the hanging effigy of a Fresno High Warrior, all riding, joined the student body in a parade from the high school, via Yosemite Avenue, to the heart of town where the rally was held. The 1962 Homecoming Queen was Janice Logoluso. She and her attendants, Sheryl Hardin, Mary Louise King, and Barbara King, were presented to the student body during the downtown rally. The awards for the decorated cars were also presented. The aftergame dance that night featured "The Marvelous Vells," a band and vocal group, and was climaxed by the presentation of gifts to the Homecoming Queen and her attendants. As "Tree the Tribe Week" came to an end, it was termed "The biggest and most successful homecoming week ever to be seen at Madera High."

DANCES

After-game dances were presented after almost every home football and basketball game this year. Regardless of the outcome of the game, there was always an eager crowd of students on hand to dance out the remainder of the evening. Undaunted by the long waiting lines, Madera High's hot-footed student body filled the boys gym and danced everything from the minuet to the hydro and the twist.

The dances were sponsored by groups such as The Future Farmers, the Junior Class, Block "M", and others. Music and entertainment were provided by "The Marvelous Vells," "The Eden Rocks," and the "Ebonknights." No matter how the teams did this year, it was a winning season for the after-game dances.

CHRISTMAS BALL

Wearing the title "The Snowflake Ball," the 1962 Christmas Ball was a glittering display of beautiful red and silver decorations touched here and there with snowy white. On the night of December fourteenth, the girls' gym, filled with the music of Herkie Palacio and his orchestra, was a winter wonderland. Even the rain of an unexpected storm couldn't dampen the Christmas spirit of the couples who were there.

The dance was sponsored by the Athena Horizon. The committee heads were: Sheryl Hardin, band; Frances Pacheco, bandstand; Nancy Allison, walls; Barbara King, ceiling; Barbara MacDonald, centerpiece; Marcia Rantsma and Kay Morini, table decorations and tables; Carrie Wren, entrance; Bonnie Solari, portrait background; Brenda Schlumbohm, bids; Mary Russell, publicity; and Sheryl Hatch, refreshments.

This dance boasted the largest attendance for any Christmas Ball and was by all means one of the most enjoyable.

Herkie Palacio and his orchestra give forth with music

RECEPTION

The Freshman-Sophomore Reception, "Tropical Enchantment," was held in the Girl's Gym in an atmosphere of exotic excitement. Carrying out the theme of the reception were the decorations, which featured a molten volcano and a rushing waterfall. Committee chairmen for the reception were: Decorations, Carol Lari; Refreshments, Sandy Carmassi; and Tickets, John Johansen. Queen of the reception, Ethelynne Krubnik, and her attendants, Sharon Weber and Jackie Toschi, reigned during the dance. Music was provided by the "Deltas."

CUPID'S DELIGHT

Cupid's Delight, the annual Valentine's dance, was done with a cosmic theme. The theme, "Universe of Love," was enhanced by a centerpiece of a cupid riding a silvery rocket. Red and white were used to give the decorations the traditional Valentine appeal. The music of Bob Richardson's band completed the transition of the girls gym from an empty room into a small heaven for the beau and his Valentine.

Dance chairman, Jeannie Turpenen, and her committee heads Linda McCollough, Edith Hughes, Barbara Ferreira, Sue Romias, Pat Morger, Frances Filiponi, Pat Howe, Marian Davis, Myra Aten, and Lenny Brollier, along with the rest of the Mariners, did a splendid job in making the dance such a success.

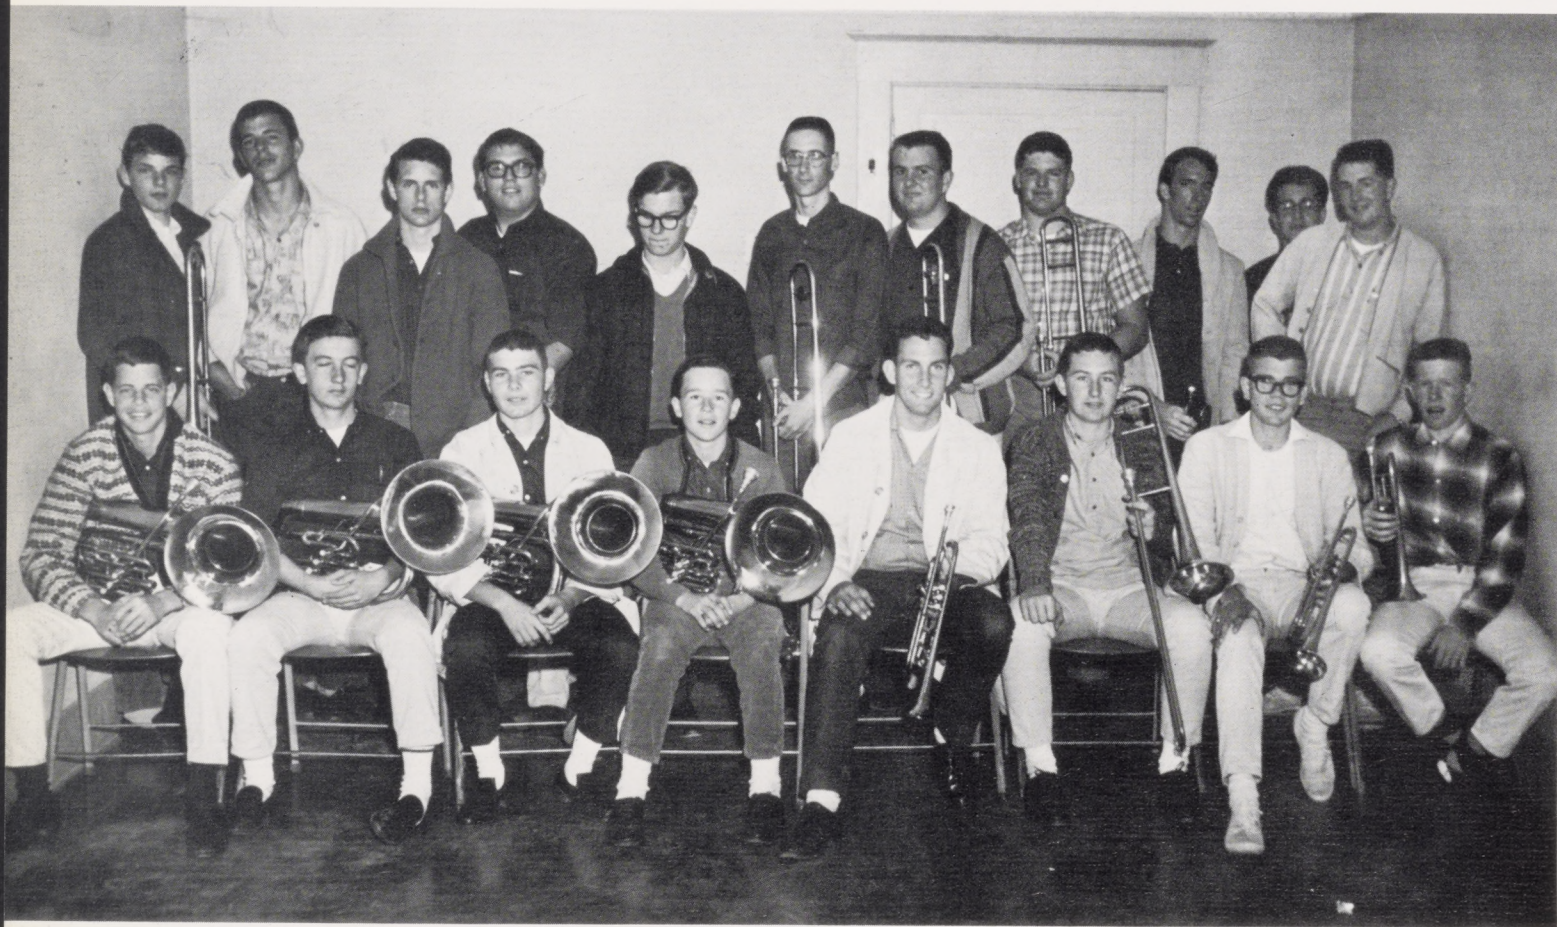

It is impossible to mention the success of the Madera High Band without mentioning the people responsible for its success. Allen Harkins has proven his talent as band director by consistently turning out fine, polished bands. Fay Harkins does marvelous work with the lettergirls and majorettes, always ready with audience pleasing routines. Unbelievable time and effort go into every half-time performance and these two people have the devotion it takes to put on a real show.

DANCE BAND

The Stardusters, Madera High's dance band is considered to be one of the best of its kind. Under the brilliant direction of Mr. Allen Harkins, the Stardusters perform at many school functions as well as at many out-of-town functions. The services of the Stardusters are often sought by other high schools and for such occasions as the Chowchilla and Los Banos fairs. The Stardusters never perform without giving their audience complete enjoyment.

MARINERS

Frances Filiponi and Marian Davis plan the Asilomar Conference. The girls were fall president and vice-president respectively.

The Mariner Scouting program was officially launched in 1934 at the Girl Scout national convention in Boston. It has grown so much since then, that today it ranks as one of the most popular branches of Senior Scouting. Mariner Troop, Nautilus 227, was established in 1942. Mrs. V. McCullough and Miss Sue Meyer are the co-advisors of the group. The annual Cupid's Delite was put on by the club. They also were in charge of the Mariner Conference held at Asilomar. The club is open to any high school girl that has a knowledge of Girl Scouting Laws and Promises. Officers for the year included: Jeanne Turpenen, Marian Davis, Frances Filiponi, Marcella Flores, Sue Romias, Linda McCullough, Myra Aten, Barbara Ferreira, and Sandy Howker.

NFL

National Forensic League is made up of nineteen members. The purpose of the club is to foster an interest in debate, public speaking, and the other forensic arts. In order to become a full member, you must first receive the Degree of Merit. The degree requires that you earn twenty-five points, which can usually be won in two to five interscholastic contests. The local club was chartered on February 22, 1955. The following year the chapter was suspended by the National Office, because of lack of activity. The club was re-instituted in 1957. Under the direction of Mr. Burke, the clubs advisor, the club participated in ten tournaments. Fall officers for the year were: Gerald Sherian, President; and Denise Green, Secretary. The spring officers were: Jack Lopez, President; Dan Chatman, Vice-President; and Joan Simpson, Secretary.

RALLY

The schools mascots—Yody and Yolanda, the Coyotes.

The Rally Committee is made up of twenty students who help to promote school spirit. All members must have a "C" average in order to join the club. The club, under the direction of Mr. Lowry, the clubs advisor, decorates the stadium during football season. They help to keep the white section "white." They also made the large school insignia to put in front of the goal posts for each home game. The football players would run through the large coyote at the start of the game. Commissioner of School Spirit was Jerry Della, who also served as Rally Commissioner.

Sharron Spaulding served as Vice-President and Frances Filiponi served as Secretary. The club bought a plaque in honor of Roland Ormsby, which will be awarded to the outstanding rally member every year.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club was started in 1942 by Lorraine Bowlus. The club was called the "Sitzmark Club," only senior boys could join. The club was discontinued in 1943, but in 1944 the club was started again, this time junior and senior boys could join. In 1948 the club was opened to everyone in high school, who was interested in skiing. Officers for the year were: President, Doc Emmert; Vice-President, Janice Logoluso; Secretary, Sheryl Howe; Treasurer, Don Grover; Scribe, Tim Peterson. The big event of the year was the overnight trip to Badger Pass. A Christmas display was put in the Science Building showcase of ski equipment. The club also had a fashion show of ski clothes and equipment from Herb Bauer's.

TAP; YAC

Teens Against Polio and Youth Against Cancer are two of the clubs at MUHS that have no requirement for membership. The students volunteer their time and assistance in supporting the fund raising efforts for the two clubs. YAC works in collaboration with the Madera County Cancer Society and the American Cancer Society, while TAP works with the County March of Dimes. YAC was formed during the spring of 1962 through the efforts of Gail Barcus. Individual rooster pom poms were made and sold by the Cancer fighting group during football season. TAP sponsored a king and queen contest and the dance at which they were crowned. Miss Estes, club advisor, said the YAC car wash was one of the most successful ever. The clubs were both commended on the fine jobs they did to help fight two of the most harmful diseases in the country.

PHYSICAL MAN

We have already noted that the mission given to man is to know and master himself and his universe. We may suggest that just as technology is instrumental in giving man control of the physical universe, so sports are instrumental in giving him control of himself. It is not only the physical aspect of play which we wish to record. The social function of sport is as important as its disciplining role. Men gathering together to play basketball are cooperating no less than men who are drafting a constitution or publishing a newspaper.

But here we are interested primarily in the human value of play; we say that man is the only creature capable of taking intellectual pleasure in a physical deed well done. We might say that the satisfaction derived from witnessing a well-played baseball game is analogous to the satisfaction derived from the highest sort of contemplation.

So let us look at Madera men at play, disciplining their bodies in obedience to the command to master themselves. Let us see them form teams to collectively win victories no one could accomplish alone; let us take pleasure in their achievement, for their sport is a noble work of man.

A. T. Wilburn runs for a touchdown.

MADERA 12 - BULLARD 13

The loss to Roosevelt failed to create enough Coyote spirit to topple the Bullard Knights. First quarter: Bullard returned Madera's opening kickoff for an eighty-yard touchdown. This proved to be a psychological catastrophe for the Coyotes. Score: 0-7. Second quarter: The frustrated Coyotes could not sustain an attack, and the Knights scored a touchdown. Score: 0-13. Third quarter: The second half could definitely be called Madera's. The punt was exchanged, and Madera started a drive ending with a twenty-yard Mendoza to Wilburn pass for the touchdown. Score: 6-13. Fourth quarter: The determined Coyotes set out to score. Mendoza scored from the Bullard two-yard line. In the last seven minutes of the game, Madera failed to reach touchdown territory. Final score: 12-13

Good blocking clears Mendoza.

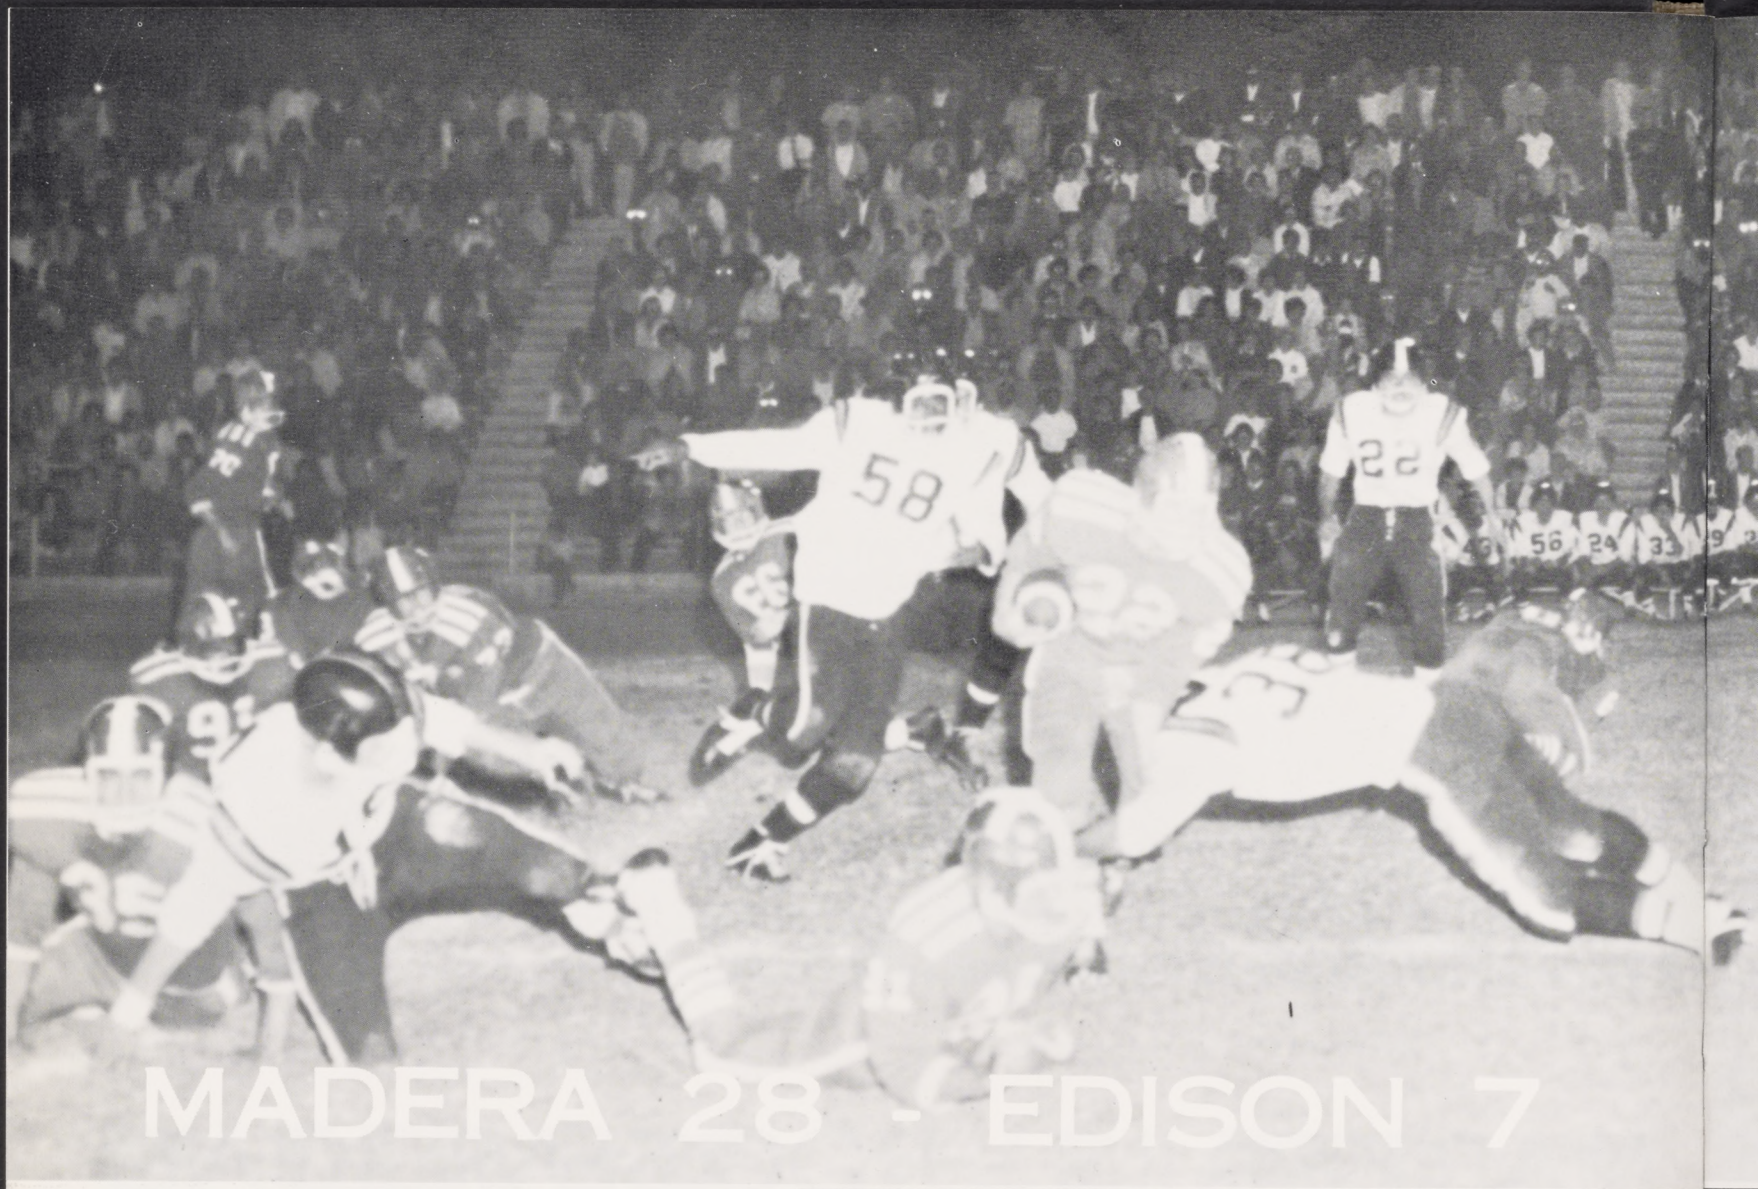

Every team wants to win the first game, and this was true for Madera and Roosevelt. The Coyotes put on a good exhibition of football, but their efforts were thwarted by an alert Roosevelt team. First quarter: The game started as a defensive battle with neither team scoring. Second quarter: After an exchange of punts, Roosevelt got on the scoreboard with a pass to their halfback. The next minute and a half saw both teams scoring. Madera scored on a pass from Tyndal to Wilburn for a thirty-two yard touchdown. Seconds later the Roosevelt quarterback raced for a sixty-yard touchdown. Score: 6-12. Third quarter: After exchanging punts Madera started a drive climaxed by Mendoza's fourteen yard scoring run. Roosevelt was unable to score. Score: 13-12. Fourth quarter: Madera kicked off, and Roosevelt started a drive on their own thirty-six, which ended with what proved to be the winning touchdown. The Coyotes took the ball to the Rough Riders two, but failed to score. Final score: 13-19

MADERA 13 - ROOSEVELT 19

Mendoza down. Roosevelt man hangs on to Thomas.

This proved to be the best game of the season for the Coyotes. A tough defense and a determined offense won the game. First quarter: Madera started off slowly offensively by losing two fumbles during a touchdown drive, but the defense kept McLane from capitalizing on the miscues. Toward the end of the quarter the Coyotes started a drive with Noble, Thomas, and Mendoza doing the running. The quarter ended with Madera in possession of the ball on the McLane four. Second quarter: A fumble was recovered by McLane on their own four yard line, but again Madera's defense got tough and McLane was forced to punt. Two passes, Emmert's fourteen yard gain, and a quarterback sneak by Tyndal brought the Coyotes to their first touchdown. McLane failed to move and had to punt. A drive of thirty-six yards ended with a touchdown by Mendoza. Sellai's conversion made the score 14-0. Third quarter: McLane recovered a Madera fumble on the Madera ten and pushed across the goal for their first and only touchdown. During the remaining battle, the Coyote defense sparkled. Final score: 14-7

The Madera Coyotes, after having lost two games, were determined and eager to beat the Edison Tigers. First quarter: After an exchange of punts, Madera started a drive. Martinez carried the ball to the Edison thirty-yard line. Then Payne picked up six more yards as the quarter ended. Score: 0-0. Second quarter: Passes to Bradford and Wilburn set up a Mendoza to Wilburn pass good for seven yards and a touchdown. An exchange of plays followed with neither team scoring. Score: 7-0. Third quarter: Payne, Mendoza, and Noble carried the ball to the Edison thirty-two. Mendoza passed to Wilburn for a touchdown. The third score by Mendoza followed an intercepted pass. Sellai's third placement made the score 21-0. Fourth quarter: A pass by Tyndal to Wilburn made the score 28-0. Late in the period Edison finally made a touchdown on a pass. Final score: 28-7

MADERA 14 - MCLANE 7

Mendoza breaks through as Wilburn, Emmert, and Martinez clear way.

MADERA 16 - FRESNO 34

Block "M" done magnificently by card section.

After a brilliant game against McLane, the Coyotes suffered a mental let-down (or build-up), and lost their Homecoming game. First quarter: Fresno started quickly by scoring in the first four minutes, but Madera's Mendoza ran the kickoff back eighty yards to tie the score: 7-7. Second quarter: The determined Warriors pushed to the Madera one-yard line. The Coyotes held momentarily, but the Warriors gained the touchdown. The Coyotes started a drive from their own thirty-five. The running of Mendoza, Emmert, Thomas, and Martinez carried the ball to the Fresno thirty-four. A pass from Tyndal to Bradford set up a pass to Wilburn for a touchdown. Sellai converted. A few minutes later Madera scored on a safety. Score 16-13. Third quarter: An aroused Fresno team scored two touchdowns. Hard play by the Warriors enabled them to build-up a 27-16 lead. Fourth quarter: Fresno scored again late in the period to hand the Coyotes a 34-16 defeat.

Clovis was Madera's last attempt. The game was full of surprises and tense moments, which characterized the entire season. First quarter: Madera scored quickly by opening a hole for Mendoza, who ran sixty-four yards for the touchdown. The scoring stopped, and neither team could generate enough steam for a touchdown drive. Score: 7-0. Second quarter: Clovis, behind good passing and hard blocking, pushed across a touchdown, but failed to convert. Madera managed to get a two-point safety. This proved to be all the scoring for the quarter. Score: 9-6. Third quarter: The Cougars came out in the quarter fired up and ready to win. They promptly scored a touchdown and went ahead of the Coyotes. Score: 13-9. Fourth quarter: The Cougars, who were still battling, put together a series of passes and runs and scored again. At this point the Coyotes sustained a drive for another touchdown. Final score: 16-20.

Manfredi carries a word from the head coach.

CHAMPIONSHIP FROSH-SOPH

Coach Warner

Coach Johnson

Our freshman-sophomore team of 1962 battled their way into the Northern Yosemite League Championship, fashioning an undefeated season with nine victories and no defeats. This team swept aside every opponent in its path, scoring a total of 358 points to 51 points for the opposition. It was a group composed of young men with purpose of mind and high ideals. It was a group featuring tremendous pride, beautiful cooperation, and intense spirit. It was a group who wanted to excel, who were willing to work hard to reach their desired goals. It was a group who loved the game of football and enjoyed having fun.

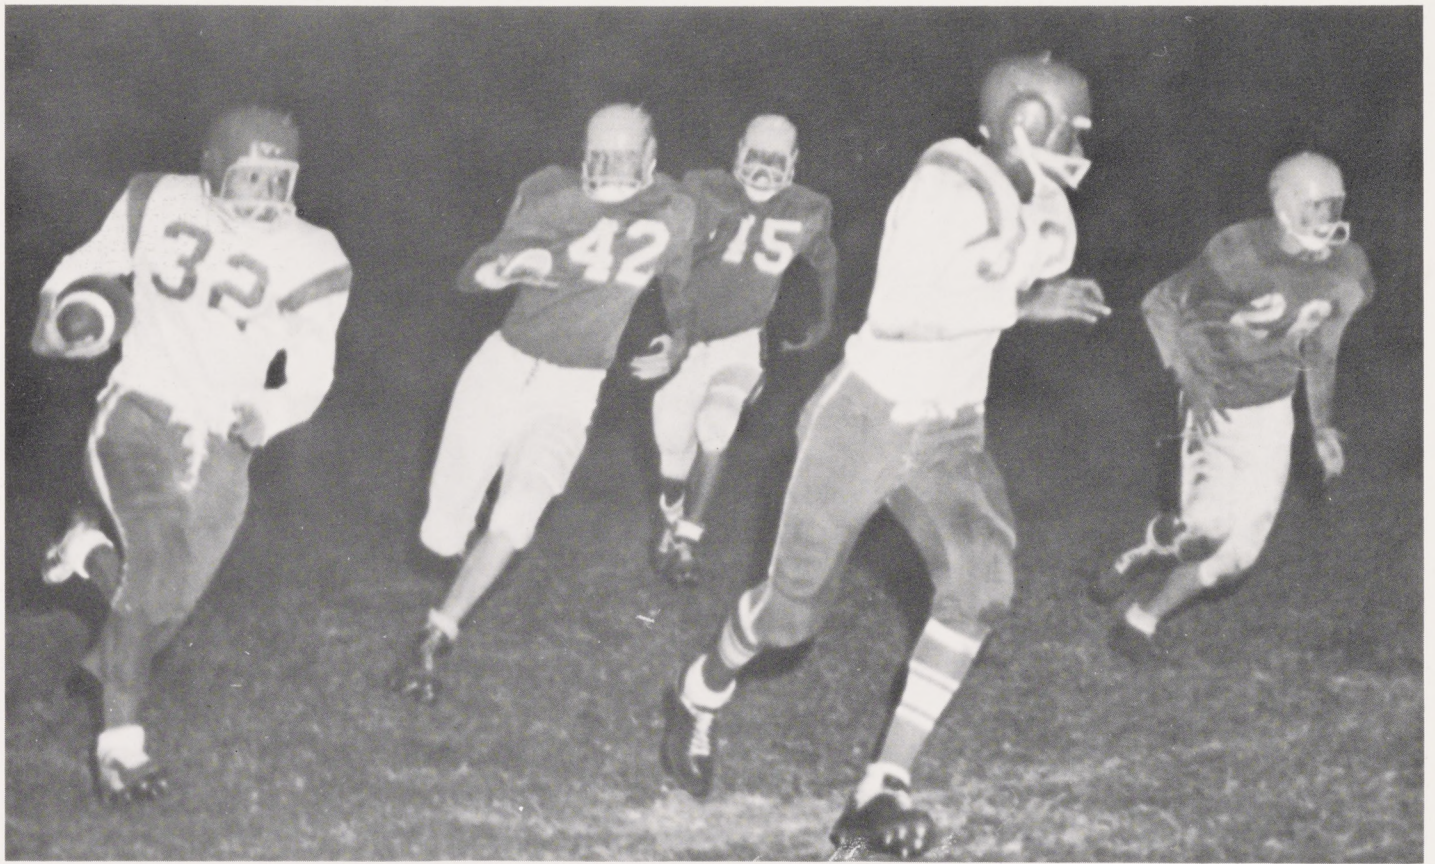

With these ingredients, it is not difficult for one to realize why this team was so splendid in every respect. In the words of Coach Warner, "These boys are and will continue to be magnificent."

We will always remember 1963 as the year that basketball was revived at MUHS. This came about because a group of young men dedicated themselves to the task of bringing "their sport" from the bottom and putting it at the top. On the way to compiling a 26-1 record, our squad won the Madera Invitational Tournament, Fresno Bee Holiday Tourney, North Yosemite League Championship, and the Valley Tournament of Champions. It was quite a common sight to see a line forming at the ticket window shortly after school was out on the day of a game as the Coyotes performed before the "packed house" for every home league game. To the senior members of our squad; Roy Allen, Frank Davie, Mose Henderson, George Kovacevich, Ray Martinez, Steve Tolmachoff, Gary Whitman, and Albert T. Wilburn, we bid a fond farewell and to the underclassmen; Leroy Brown, Coy Elrod, John Mendrin, and Jon Morse, we would caution, "you have a challenging and tremendous task before you, but with the help and grace of God I'm confident you will carve a niche for your class in the annals of Coyote athletics."

VICTORY!!!

The 1963 season of basketball had just ended for the Coyote basketball team. They had just won the first NYL championship since 1939. The last game with Bullard High had just clinched the title for the Coyotes and jubilation, rejoicing, and thanksgiving reigned at Madera Hi. After the wildly jubilant Coyotes had given Coach Dacus the traditional victory shower, they gathered around the table and enjoyed the pop and cakes given them. The team later won the valley championship, the school's first. The season was full of thrills. The high points were so numerous that one finds it difficult to isolate any game. Each person has a particular event or game which stands out most in his mind. To some the two one-point wins over Fresno High were the highlights. Others feel that the win over Edison in their gym was the biggest thrill because this was the first time Madera ever beat Edison in their gym. The list of highlights differ from person to person, but everyone agrees the season was the greatest in Madera's history. The individual players and Coach Dacus did a great job of molding themselves into an effective working unit. They continually sacrificed personal glory for the team's sake, and a well-balanced team made this doubly effective. Madera Union High School heartily congratulates the 1962-1963 basketball team.

ROY ALLEN, getting this tip, led the team this year in rebounds, and made all-valley at the Reedley Tournament.

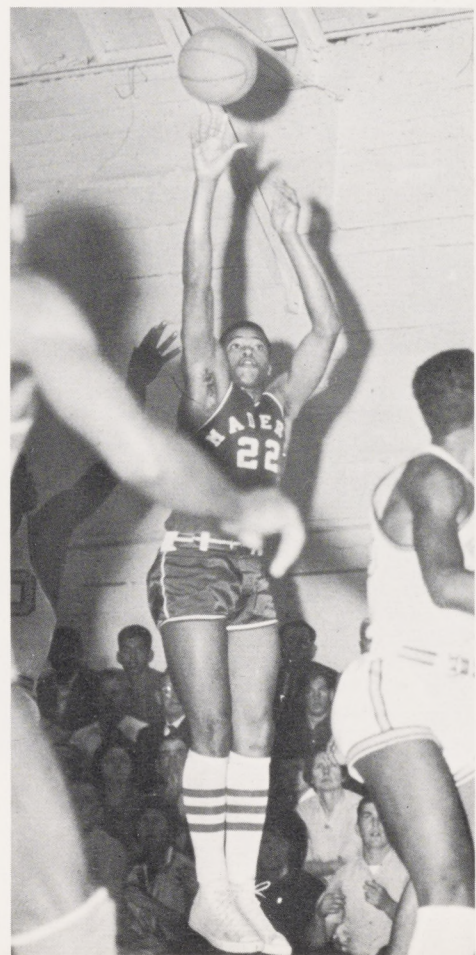

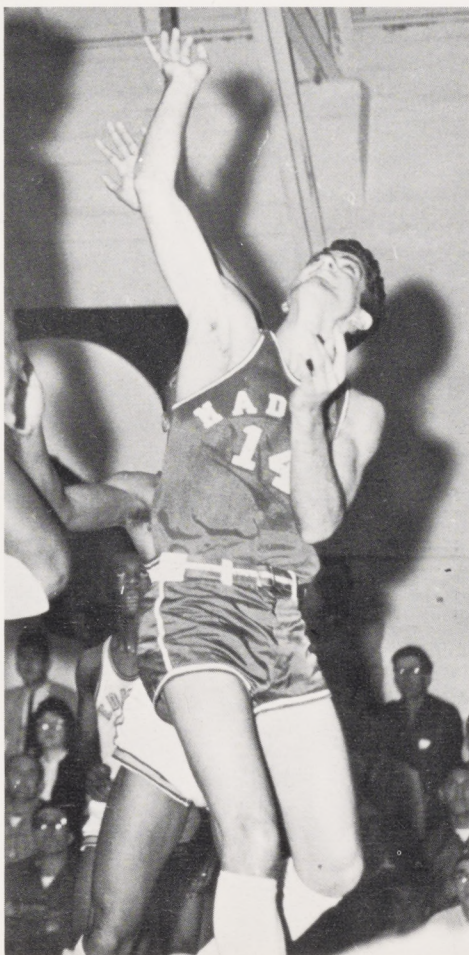

FRANKIE DAVIE played great basketball and while doing so, became the most valuable player on the all-valley team at the Reedley Tournament.

GARY WHITMAN, an outstanding player, proved his ability by making the all-valley team at the Reedley Games.

GEORGE KOVACEVICH led the team in scoring. He made the all-tournament team at Madera.

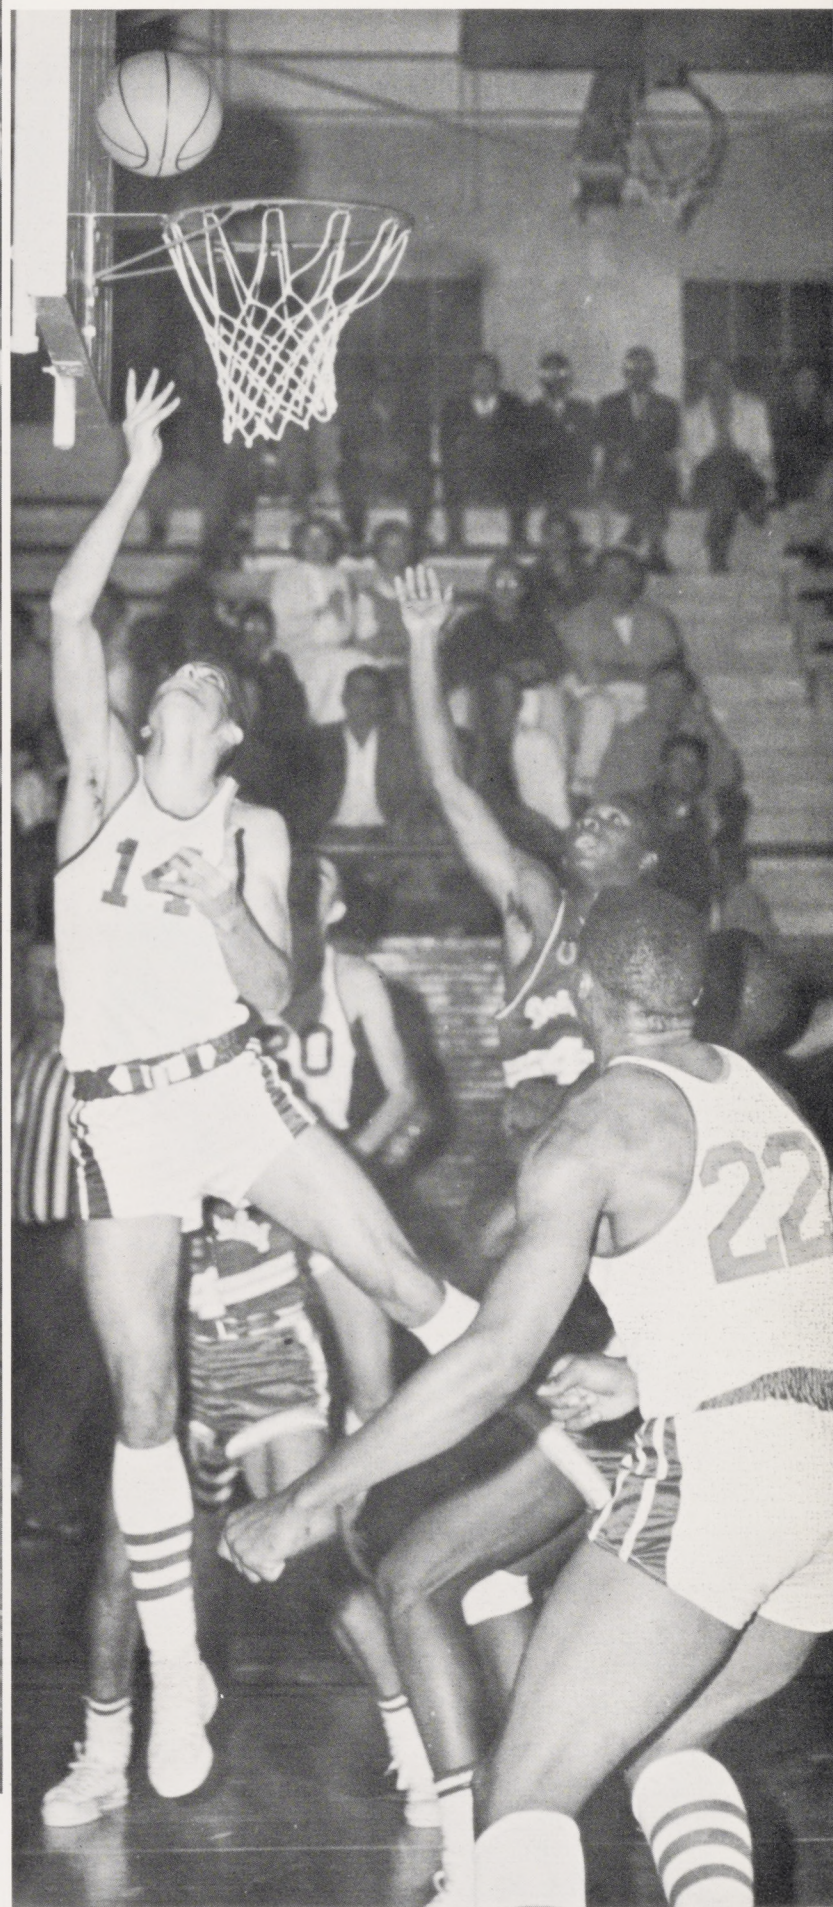

ALBERT WILBURN, an able guard, made two all-tournament teams.

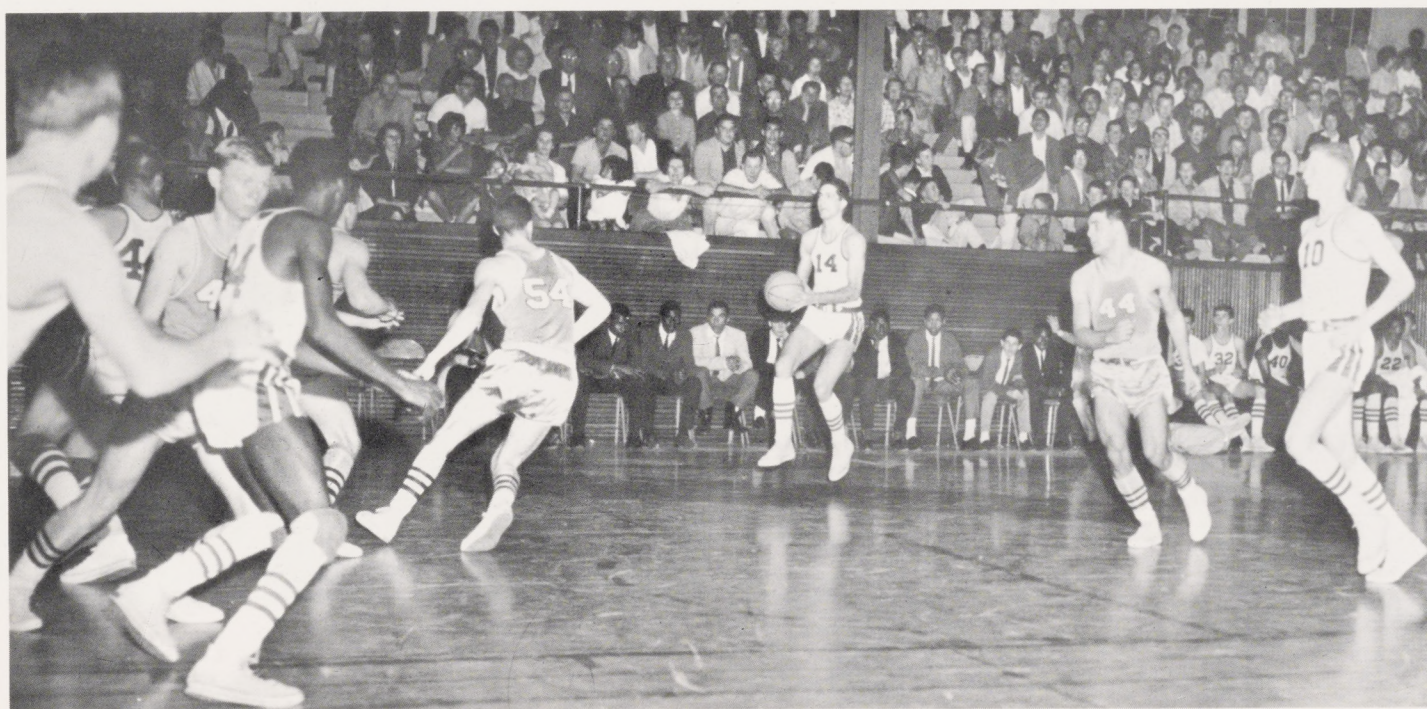

George Kovacevich goes up for a shot as Roy Allen of Madera and Cates of McLane prepare to rebound.

Whitman jumps but not high enough to stop the shot of the Warrior. Madera edged Fresno Hi, 55-54, in a tense, thrilling game.

There is great activity as Kovacevich prepares to either shoot or pass. Hustle was the key in many Madera victories.

Coach Dacus, usually the calmest person in the gym, watches the action of the players intently. Martinez helps out.

The final game of the Madera Tournament gets off to a fast start as Allen jumps center for the Coyotes.

Allen shoots as Whitman and Kovacevich move in for a possible rebound. This was the first league game.

Whitman fights for rebound position as the ball nears the basket. Allen comes up to assist Gary.

Coach Phil Shanklin

The MUHS Junior Varsity Basketball team, coached by Phil Shanklin, compiled a 8-4 record in league play for a solid third place in N.Y.L. competition. After winning only three out of eight games, the JV's showed great improvement in league play. In the first round of the "tough" league competition, the JV's ended with four wins and two losses, losing to McLane and Fresno Hi. The second round also ended with four wins and two losses. These were Fresno Hi and Edison. The team established a team record of 56 rebounds in the Roosevelt gym. Leroy Brown, a varsity prospect, made 32 of these.

Captain, Don Zimmerman was the leading scorer with 218 points. Marvin Lyon led the rebound department with 138 rebounds. These boys played with such spirit and enthusiasm that we will expect to see them next year playing varsity. Coach Shanklin did an excellent job training his boys for varsity play. He will continue this important role with the hope of a League Championship next year.

Marvin Lyon makes two points.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Coach Leroy Zimmerman and Coach Farrell face the task of building a strong baseball team from a nucleus of five returning lettermen. The returning lettermen are Don Zimmerman, Ken Cereghino, and John Payne who are infielders. Also, pitchers Dave Bradford and George Kovacevich are back from last year's team. Both of these pitchers are capable of having very fine seasons if they receive adequate support from their teammates. Some hopefuls that could aid the Coyotes greatly this year are Sammy Guterrez and Mickey Konkol who are infielders. Ron Tyndal, Joe Diaz, outfielders, and Greg Toler, a catcher, will also be depended upon this year.

The North Yosemite League promises to be strong this year in baseball. The toughest foes of the Coyotes will probably be Roosevelt, McLane, and Fresno High. The Coyotes are capable of a very fine season because of experienced pitching and a desire to excel.

Konkol awaits the throw as Tyndal slides safely into third base during a recent practice session of the Coyote varsity. Such things as base running, base stealing, and good defensive work are taught constantly to the players. Live workouts such as this prepare the players to face similar situations successfully in games.

The dugout is a place of rest for the starting team and a rather temporary home for the reserves. The dugout is a place where a player can relax, razz the pitcher or the umpires, sleep, or watch the girls in the stands. Some players, most of them in fact, actually watch the game. Baseball is made more interesting by the bench-jockeys.

Coach Penland

The cross country team at Madera is a novelty. As usual the Coyotes were enthusiastic and interested. We have a good turnout this year and along with Coach Penland, we hope to place in the various championship meets. Potential and great coaching assure success.

ROW 1: Coach Penland, R. Holquin, G. Larson, G. Sanchez, R. Ornelas, E. Fernandez, R. Miles, R. Toschi.
ROW 2: G. Grey, G. Desmond, D. Higgenbotham, B. Bates, E. Holquin, A. Babcock, B. Holcomb.

Ronn Dominici tosses discus.

Coach Brunoli, Coach Dewitt, and Coach Penland have some track men who are capable of having a very fine season. Their desire to excel will be the deciding factor. Don Sellai in the 220, 440, and the 100-yard dash will gain many points for the team. Tyrone Powell, a high jumper, is capable of placing very high in the valley. Vernon Thomas, a broad jumper, Mose Henderson, and Bob Tate will be called on to aid the team in dashes and some field events. Ron Dominici will be the biggest help in the discus. The track team will make its presence felt in the NYL this year, and it will depend a great deal on varsity players such as Gilbert Orteza and David Morgan. The "B" team will depend a great deal on the talents of Andrew Mitchel, Freddie Spencer, Dan Crump, and Jack Lynch. The "C" team will rely in many cases on untried freshmen and a few experienced upper classmen. Madera has a potentially sound team desire and work will be the deciding factor.

Don Sellai takes a lead in the 220.

Vernon Thomas is a hopeful for Track 1963. He is not only a broad jumper but a sprinter running 100, 220 and relay.

Tyrone Powell is our best high jumper and is expected to place for the Coyotes in the valley meet. (shown below). He is shown here demonstrating his versatility by hurdling. Also shown is Burmodos.

WRESTLING, VARSITY NYL CHAMPS

Coach Brooks

The Madera Hi Grapplers had another fine year by winning the League Championship, second at Fresno State, third at Samuel Ayers, second in League Tournament, fourth in Section Tourney. Ray April, Stel Manfredi, Jim Mendoza, Ron Noble, and Michael Badella will be missed next year, since they were outstanding in their classes.

GOLF

ROW 1: Coach Rosseth, F. Cimino, M. Catching, B. Peregoy, S. Rasmussen, K. Schneider, M. Thompson, L. Holman.
ROW 2: J. Hughes, R. Hardin, S. Oberti, R. Blake, N. Harkins, G. Justice.

Carrol Justice practices his slamming form at the Madera Golf and Country Club in preparation for an upcoming meet.

The golf team has helped make the Coyotes proud of their school. Golf is a relatively new sport at Madera and has attracted many boys with a great deal of potential. Mr. Rosseth, our new coach, with the aid of the Madera golf pro, is trying to build a championship team. He will have some boys who should help the team this year. Stanley Oberti and Lee Holman, seniors, Mike Thompson a junior, Bob Peregoy a sophomore, and Richie Hardin a freshman should all come through very well this year. Coach Rosseth believes that the Fresno schools will be tough to beat this year, especially Fresno High and McLane High. The golfers will be hoping to upset some of the favored schools and become the spoilers of the NYL this season.

Purl advises golfers.

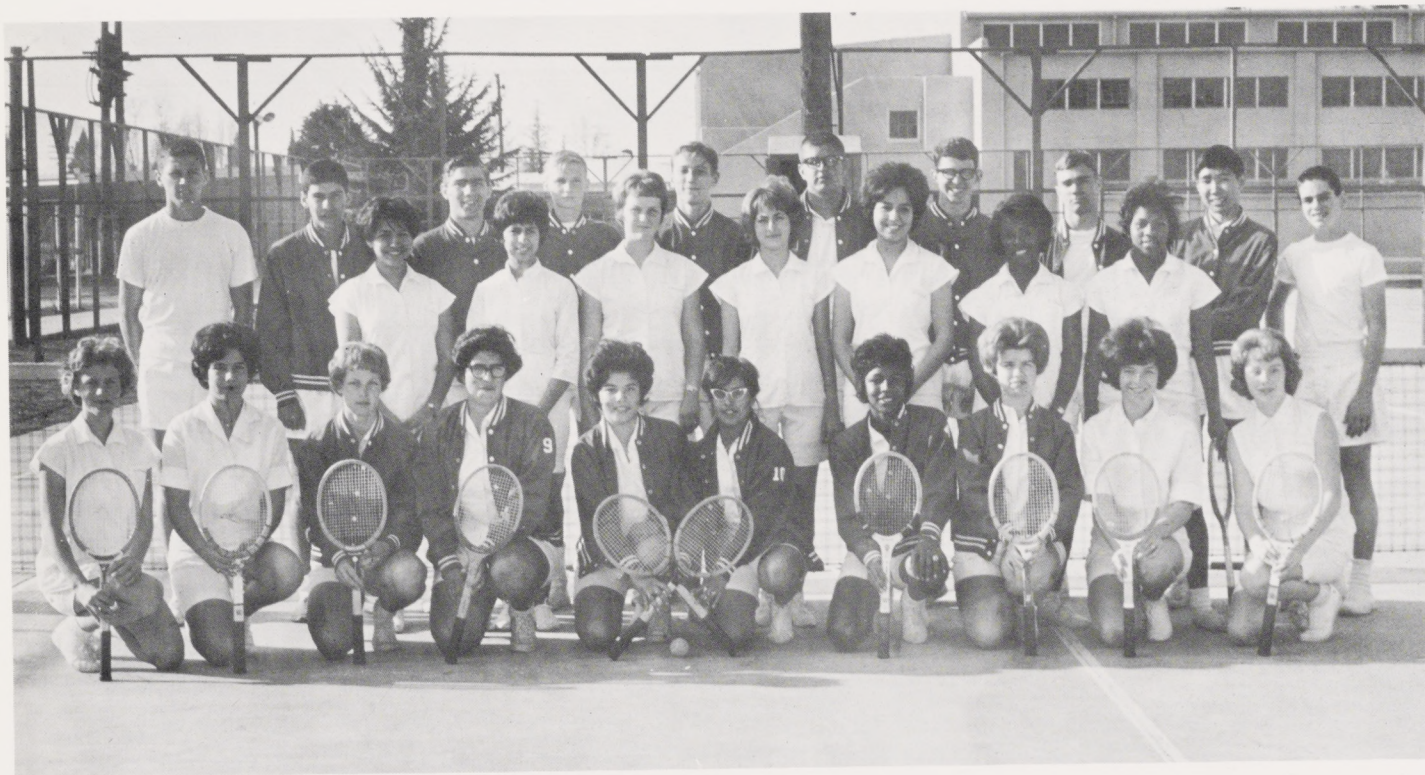

Eddy Boyle misses shot.

Peregoy sprays three feet of sand.

Coach Pettit

Coach Farrell

The tennis team, under the coaching of Mr. Pettit and Mrs. Farrell, is looking forward to a fine season. The team should be led by returning lettermen Mark Tanaka and Louise Rodriquez, who both gained berths in the finals of The First Annual Fresno Invitational Tournament, which was played early in the season. Coaches Pettit and Farrell are also depending on fine performances from the rest of the lettermen from the 1962 team, as well as from several promising newcomers.

Jerry and Louise rally for mixed doubles competition.

B. McAlister, D. Anderson, D. Rowe, D. McAlister, C. James, S. Romias, C. Helmuth.

The Coyote divers are diving in their fifth year of competition and I may add that it is rough! The spirit shown by the seven characterizes the spirit here at Madera and with this, they are assured a top rating in the League. These divers well represent Madera Hi. Hopefuls for this season are freshmen Cheryl Helmuth, Don McAlister, and Dennis Rowe.

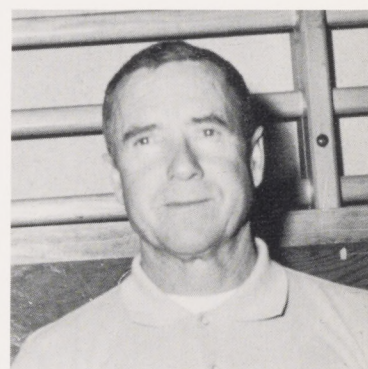

Bob McAlister, Sue Romias, in perfect form.

WHOLE MAN

The men we present here have spent from one to four years engaged in the work of man. That is, they have witnessed the struggle of the mind in contact with the incomprehensible, they have come to know and work with their fellows, they have met on fields of sport in contests of strength and skill; they have done that which is good for men to do.

We have said that these three works reveal humanity. On further reflection, we say that they do more than that—they are humanific enterprise as well as humane. They enrich humanity as well as sustain it. The men who engage in works of man are more humane because of their work.

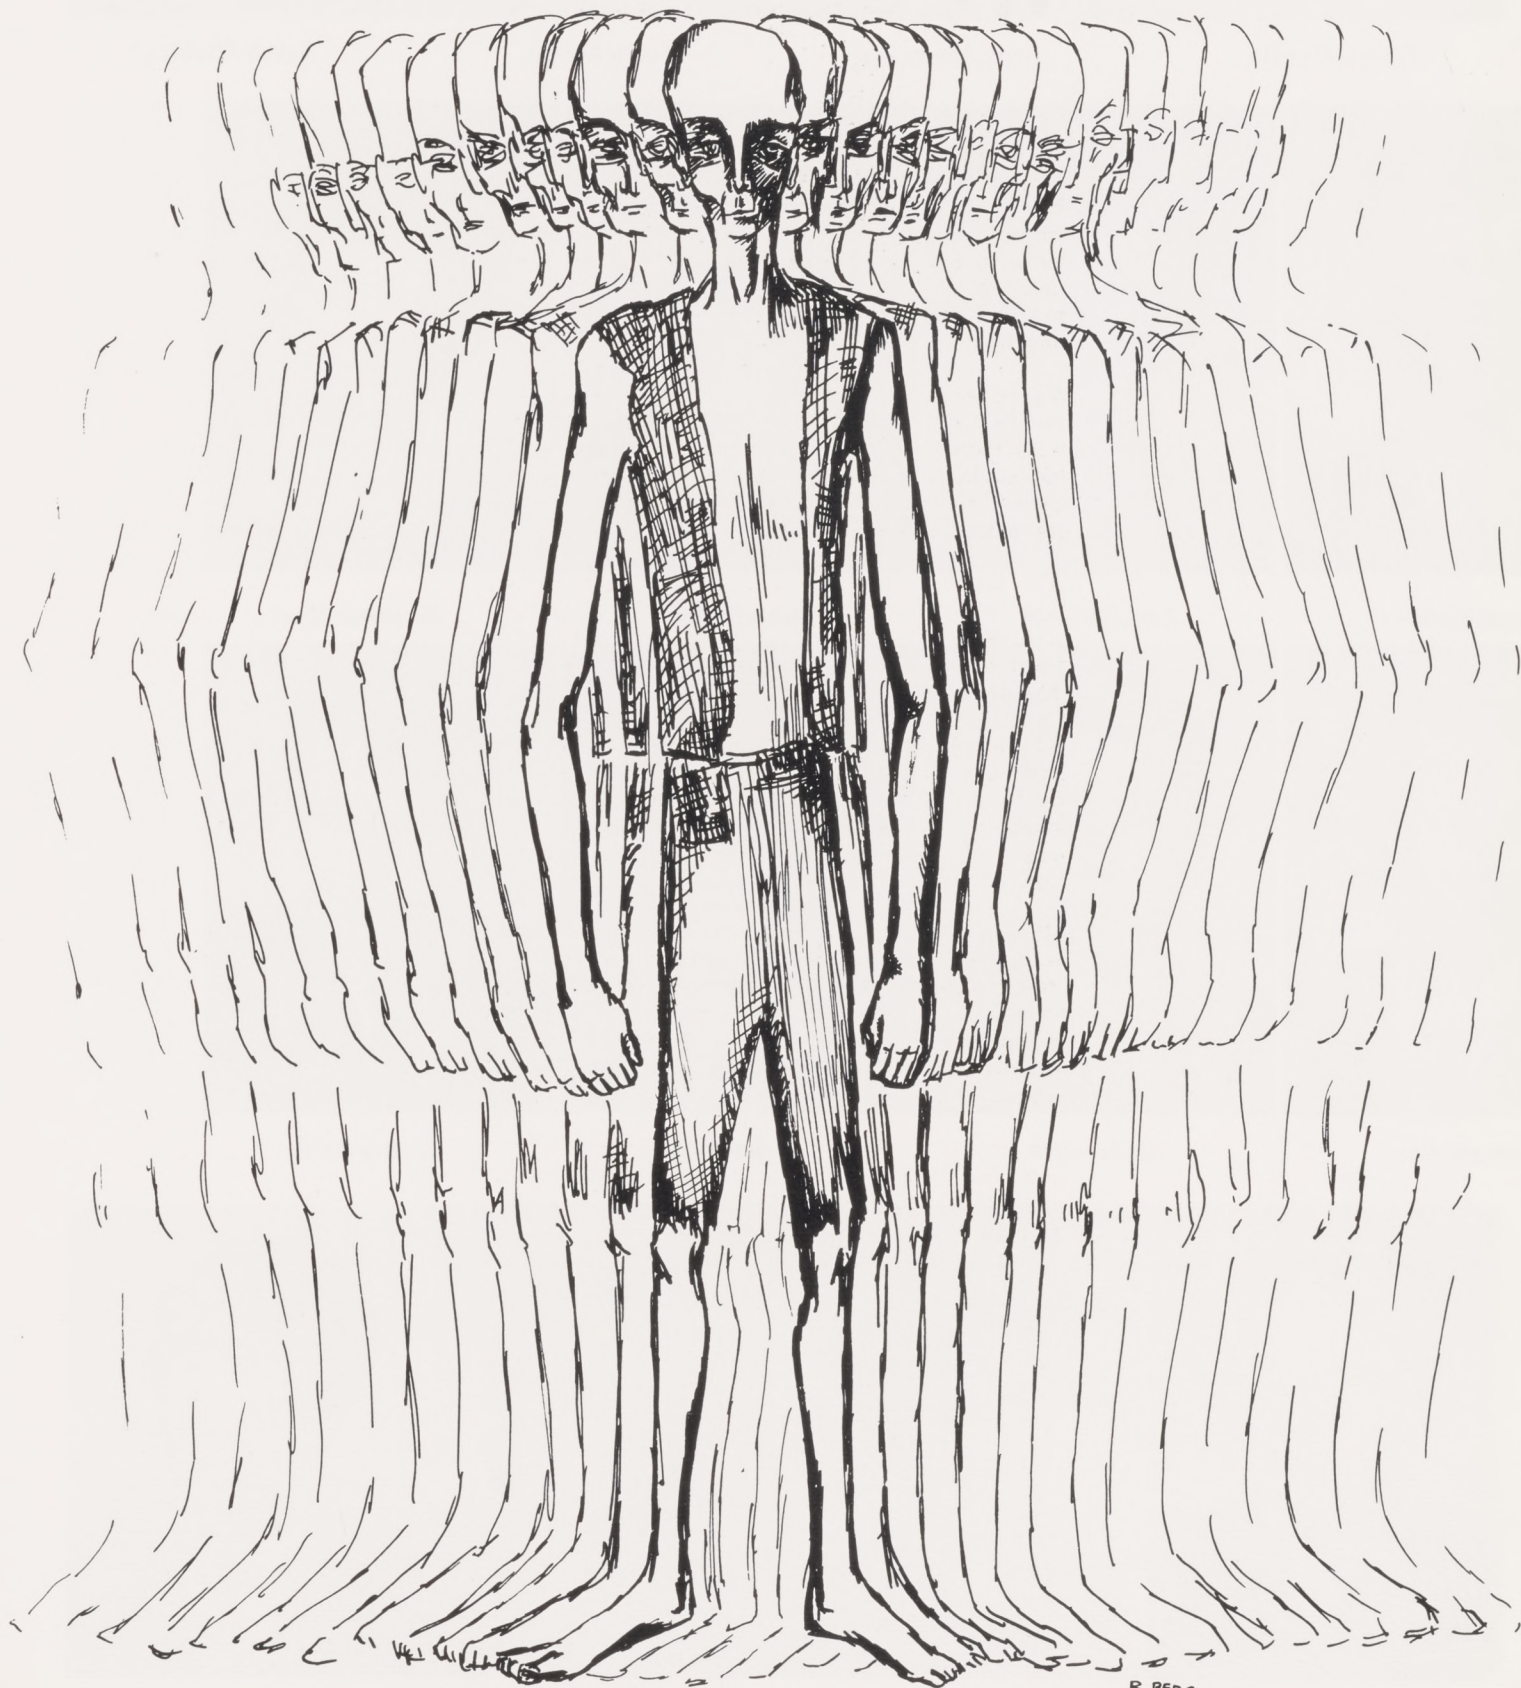

With this in mind, we present first the graduating class of 1963. Distinguished by its academic achievement and remarkable for its promise of great future success, the class has done well in its stay at Madera.

But we will not dwell on the achievements of the past; our sights are on the future. We will not try to predict the success of the class; to do so would be premature. But we will say that the record of the class up to the present is cause for high optimism.

Although the underclassmen are not focused upon as are the seniors, they too play a part of the utmost importance. As the seniors have just completed twelve years of their preparation for life in the world of men, so have the underclassmen experienced training and preparation for life as seniors.

We present, then, the students of Madera High, with the hope that the members of each group will continue to improve themselves and to mature as they have done this past year.

FINAL MAN

Man's greatness is a result of his despair. He is different from all things because even as he passes away, he can be a child of man. Man is the being who knows his situation in the universe and is able to continue this knowledge. What is decisive is not that this creature dares to step up to the universe and know it—however amazing this is; what is decisive is that he knows the relation between himself and the universe. From out of the midst of the universe has risen something that faces mankind.

The day has come to begin the work of our renovation. We will not establish any program, for a program would stifle living reality. It would prevent the bursting forth of the unpredictable and imprison the future within the limits of the human mind.

We must arise and move on. We must liberate ourselves from blind technology and grasp the complexity and the wealth of our nature.

For the first time in the history of humanity, a crumbling civilization is capable of discerning the causes of its decay. For the first time, it has at its disposal the gigantic strength of science. Will we utilize this knowledge and this power? It is our only hope of escaping the fate common to all great civilizations of the past.

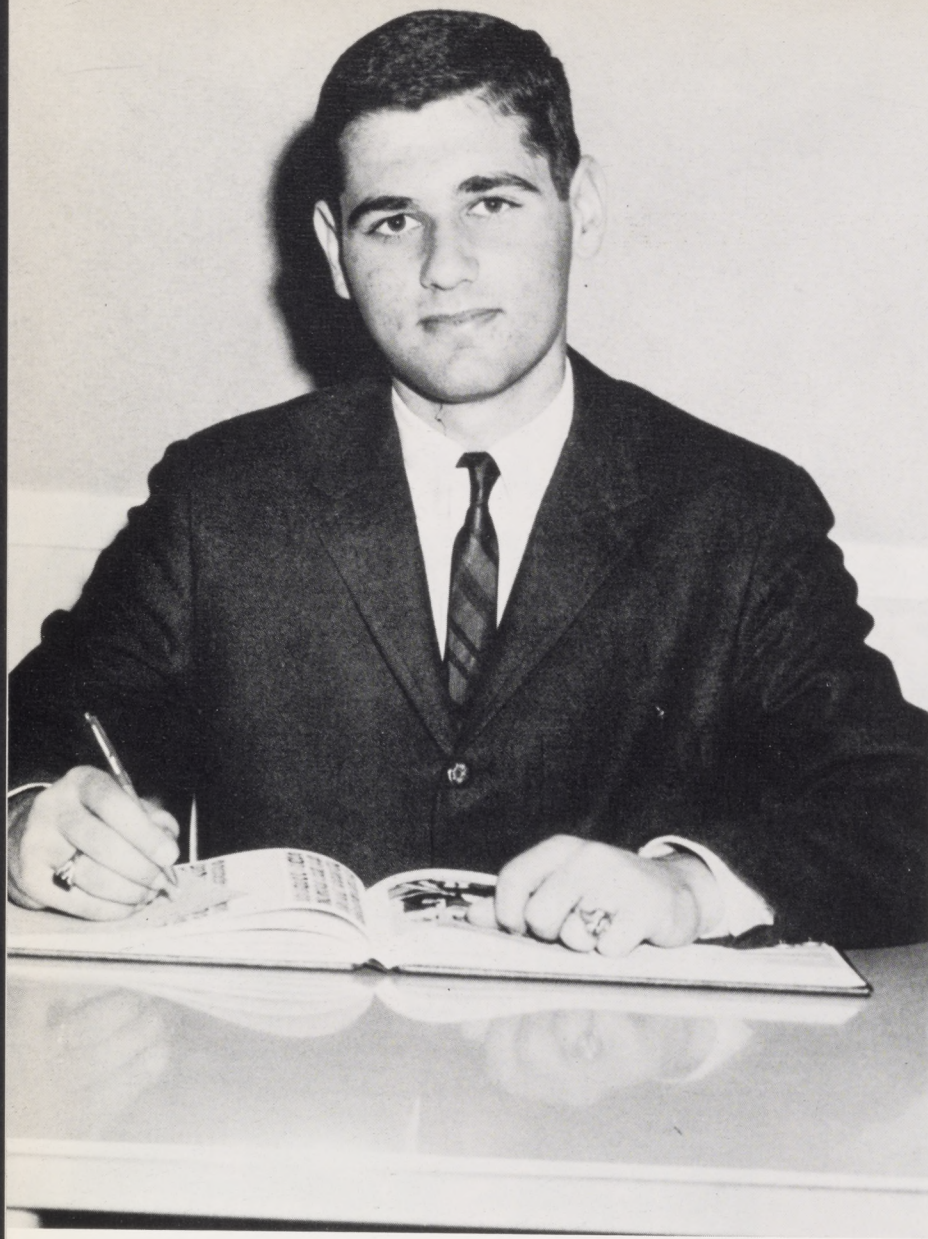

We should not concern ourselves with only that part of the universe on which we have a hold, but we should try our best to enlarge that hold as much as possible.

EPILOGUE

We of mankind are conscious of existing, of possessing an activity of our own, an individuality. We know that we are different from all other individuals. We believe that our will is free. We feel exalted or depressed. These intuitions constitute for each of us the ultimate reality. Yet the masses are our masters; and for everyone who looks facts in the face, his existence has become dependent on them, so that the thought of them must control his doings, his cares, and his duties. If he wants to make his livelihood by intellectual activity, he will find it very difficult to do this except by satisfying the needs of the many. He must give currency to something that will please the crowd. They ask satisfaction in the pleasures of the bed, erotism, self-assertion; they find no joy in life if one of their gratifications be curtailed. They also desire some means of self-knowledge. They desire to be led in such a way that they can fancy themselves to be leaders. Without wishing to be really free, they would be accounted free.

Now as we are about to close the cover of the 1963 Blue and White, there still remains a last word to those individuals who made the production of this yearbook possible. First of all I want to thank my staff, without whom the production of this yearbook would not have been possible. I also wish to express thanks to Miss Nancy Allison who assisted in the production of the activities section of the yearbook. To Mr. Robert Trestrail a special word of appreciation is given for his patience and endurance as the yearbook advisor. For the special encouragement, help, and interest of our representatives, Junior Dominici and Jim Ruhl, a humble thanks is extended. Our appreciation is forwarded to Mr. Ralph Howell and Mr. Dale Griffin for their fine work on the senior portraits. Also a special thanks is extended to Ralph for photographing the football team in color. We owe a great many thanks to Roger Worley, Robert Bates, and James Dover for the excellent job they did photographing our high school activities. We also wish to express appreciation to Miss Margaret Dominici, Mr. Ladley, Harold Crouch, Ronald Anderson, Roger Rau, Robert Lattanzio, Linda Davis, Tressa Hass, Mark Tanaka, and Janice Logoluso. Perhaps, most of all, we thank you the faculty and students for providing the characters for our story.
